

I believe consumers have a right to record television broadcasts so that they can watch them when they have time to watch them. The networks should not be able to mandate that consumers watch programming at the times that THEY dictate.